

The evolution of Arctic sea ice over the last decades

Arctic sea ice tends to reach its annual peaks in March, but with each passing decade these peaks are decreasing.

Source: Arctic Data System (ADS).