Iberdrola is the best European company in ESG (environmental, social and governance) dissemination of information, according to the League of American Communications Professionals (LACP) world ranking.

LACP has evaluated nearly 1,000 annual reports (including in digital format) from different companies in more than twenty countries around the world, and has awarded Iberdrola the first place in Europe, Middle East and Africa (EMEA) and the Platinum award, with a score of 99 out of 100, for its new digital space "ESG Information" in the category of "Print-Based Alternative Reports".

This ranking has positively assessed the accessibility and transparency of ESG information to all stakeholders through its new digital space. This new microsite brings together in a single area all the company's non-financial information for the 2021 financial year (complementing the information reported in the Integrated Report with the exhaustive content available in the Statement of Non-Financial Information - Sustainability Report, as well as other ESG information relevant to stakeholders).

In addition, this body has taken into account the effort to digitalise ESG information, in an expanded form and with infographic material, which responds to numerous recognised reporting standards in this area (IIRC, GRI, SASB, Global Compact, etc.). This year, LACP also awarded Iberdrola the prize for the company that has most improved its ESG reporting with respect to the previous year.

The new ESG area, a step further in Iberdrola's commitment

In its commitment to transparency and communication dissemination, this year Iberdrola has launched a new digital "ESG Information" space, which includes all relevant information on its ESG performance and the main associated financial metrics.

With this microsite, the company takes another step forward in its leadership in ESG, bringing information in this area closer to stakeholders through a modern, digital and accessible format. This space complements the other documents published in traditional format: Statement of non-financial information - Sustainability Report, published since 2004 and Integrated Report, since 2014.
