

Advantages of using renewable energies in the logistics sector

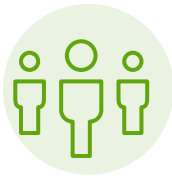

Abandonment of non-renewable sources (fossil fuels) and reduction of CO<sub>2</sub> emissions

Reducing energy costs through self-generation of electricity

Boosting the corporate image as an environmentally responsible company

Attracting new customers and suppliers committed to sustainability

Improving the quality of life of workers and surrounding communities

Compliance with environmental regulations and prevention of possible penalties

Competitive advantage over the competition as a differentiator

Reduction of noise pollution associated with logistics processes

