

European Green Capitals

Since 2010, the European Commission has recognised the important role played by cities and local authorities in protecting the environment, as well as their high level of commitment to sustainable progress, with the European Green Capital Award.

