

The most sought-after labour skills in the 21st century

1

Resolving complex problems

The search for gradual solutions will help us to avoid errors.

2

Critical thought

The key factors are self-discipline and a global and rational outlook.

3

Be inquisitive

It is essential to be inquisitive about what surrounds you and to make new discoveries.

4

Initiative

Be proactive and propose new ideas before you are asked for them.

5

Creativity

There is nothing better than imagination and teamwork for developing creativity.

6

Ability to negotiate

Mutual respect between those involved is the best way to make an agreement possible.

7

Adaptability

You need to leave your comfort zone when faced with any kind of situation.

8

Keep an open mind

Always adapt what you know to each situation, to each moment.

9

Decision making

A global analysis of any problem will always lead you to the best solution.

10

Emotional intelligence

Machines are not able to handle emotions in interpersonal relationships.