

Iberdrola, the world's best utility company in sustainability reporting

- The electricity company has been recognised by the League of American Communications Professionals (LACP), which also ranks it as the leading company in Spain in terms of sustainability reporting

Iberdrola is the world's best utility company in terms of sustainability reporting and the top Spanish company, according to the League of American Communications Professionals (LACP) ranking.

LACP has evaluated nearly 1,000 annual reports (including digital formats) from companies in numerous sectors and more than twenty countries around the world. Iberdrola, with a score of 99 out of 100, won the global Platinum award in the Online/Digital Report category for its digital space "Integrated Annual Report and Sustainability Information 2024".

Iberdrola has also been recognised as the "Most Improved Report" for the significant improvement in the quality, design and, in particular, the accessibility of its report.

The award-winning report is part of the digital space that Iberdrola dedicates to sustainability information, an environment that integrates all content related to environmental protection and biodiversity, social impact, governance and associated financial and non-financial metrics in a structured and visual way. This microsite, which reports in accordance with the main international standards (ESRS, ISSB, SASB, GRI, B4SI and Global Compact, among others), has established itself as a key tool in the commitment to transparency and the dissemination of sustainability information to all its stakeholders.

The "Most Improved" distinction highlights Iberdrola's efforts to evolve its communication model, focusing on a richer, more interactive digital experience tailored to users' needs. The company has increased its use of infographics, dynamic visualisations and multimedia content that make it easier to understand its strategy and results.
