

International Volunteer Week 2026

Hello,

Once again, our employees have shown that taking action – by sharing our time, knowledge and desire to help – enables us to make progress and create a positive impact.

From 26 September to 4 October, we celebrated Iberdrola's International Volunteer Week, which broke participation records, mobilising more than 9,500 people. The initiative once again highlighted the solidarity, commitment and dedication of the Group's professionals, who joined forces with non-profit organisations and institutions to carry out 135 social and environmental activities in all the countries where we operate.

This year's celebrations were doubly special: firstly, because they formed part of the programme of activities marking Iberdrola's 125th anniversary and, secondly, because our International Corporate Volunteering Programme is celebrating its 20th anniversary.

20 years of promoting corporate volunteering

Since 2006, the International Corporate Volunteering Programme has grown into an initiative spanning the different countries where we operate and becoming part of our corporate DNA. Looking back, these figures put into perspective everything we have achieved together.

+23,000
volunteers

24
countries of origin

+10,000
social and environmental initiatives

90,000
hours of voluntary work

+3,000
partner organisations

14 million
people benefited worldwide

Tree planting, cleaning up natural spaces, supporting vulnerable groups, workshops, donations... Beyond the figures, these represent thousands of shared experiences with colleagues, family and friends, and countless small actions that help build a better world and forge valuable human connections.

Do you know the benefits of corporate volunteering?

Find out more

International Volunteering Awards 2026

One of the highlights of the week was the corporate volunteering awards ceremony. For the fourth year, Iberdrola has recognised the professionals who have demonstrated outstanding commitment and dedication to improving other people's lives and caring for our environment.

This year, five people from different Group companies and countries received awards. Their initiatives showcase the many ways volunteering can make a positive impact: from supporting people in vulnerable situations to education, environmental protection and mobilising colleagues to launch new solidarity initiatives.

Eliana Alves dos Santos
Neoenergia

Health and Well-being Award

153 scarves collected to support cancer patients at Aristides Maltez Hospital in Salvador, Bahia.

"Volunteering is a programme that saves me every day."

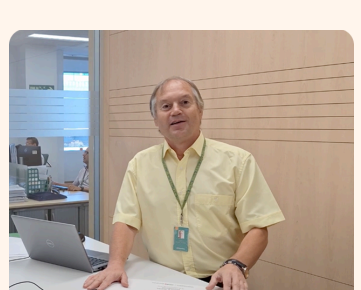

María Isabel Rebolledo Jiménez
Iberdrola Germany

Education Award

Essential support for young refugee and migrant women facing the challenge of building a new life far from their country of origin.

"I believe that even doing something very small can have a very big impact."

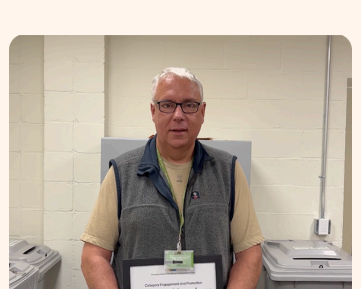

Alberto Blanco
I-DE, Spain

Environment Award

More than 3,000 native trees and shrubs planted to restore and conserve natural spaces.

"I like giving a little of what nature gives us back to it."

Andrew Haughey
Avangrid

Commitment and Awareness Award

More than 100 people mobilised to take part in volunteering activities, inspiring greater participation in volunteering.

"Thank you for putting us in touch with all these wonderful charities."

Eilidh Campbell
ScottishPower

Education Award

New opportunities for young people with learning difficulties through the Breaking Barriers project.

"It's an opportunity for both me and the students to learn so much."

