A major celebration marking 125 years of history

The Iberdrola Music Festival forms part of the company's extensive programme of activities taking place across Spain throughout 2026 to celebrate its 125-year history with employees and their families, shareholders, customers and the general public.

Under the slogan "125 light-years," Iberdrola Group's programme includes technology and art exhibitions, social events, festivals, and the illumination of iconic buildings and monuments. These initiatives aim to bring society closer to a legacy built on innovation, service to people and contribution to development through electrification, while also highlighting Iberdrola's future outlook and its commitment to the communities in which it operates.
