

PHOTOGRAPHIC REPORT

Ignacio Galán: “I am confident there will be a boom in electric vehicles”

Among the activities at the World Economic Forum Annual Meeting being held at Davos in Switzerland, Ignacio Galán, Iberdrola chairman and CEO, took part in an event organised by Bloomberg Green , where he talked about electric vehicles.

During the event, Galán said that he was “confident that there will be a boom in electric vehicles. Not just because of restrictions in cities, but because they're more convenient.” “They're cheaper and easier to use.”

Bloomberg Green is a Bloomberg media brand focusing on environmental news. It included Galán in a selection of 30 people, organisations and trends that offer possible solutions to the climate emergency. According to Bloomberg Green, Iberdrola is an “example that big companies can reduce emissions and remain profitable.”

