

IBERDROLA ENTERS THE U.S. OFFSHORE WIND MARKET FOR THE FIRST TIME WITH AN 800 MEGAWATT MACRO-PROJECT

- Vineyard Wind, a company owned 50% by Iberdrola (through its subsidiary Avangrid), has received authorisation from the Massachusetts Electric Distribution Companies (EDC) to build an offshore wind farm off the east coast of the United States.
- The wind farm will have an output of 800 megawatts (MW) and will be the first of Iberdrola's large-scale offshore wind farms to be commissioned.
- The project is part of the State of Massachusetts' goals to develop offshore wind infrastructure under its Green Communities Act.
