Iberdrola has become the main sponsor of the 'Women's Universe' programme run by the CSD. In doing so, Iberdrola is the first company to undertake a global commitment to foster the participation of women in all areas of sport.

According to this agreement, which was signed last year with the CSD and renewed recently, the Company is supporting various sports federations, including the gymnastics, swimming, football, triathlon, badminton, canoeing, rugby, handball and field hockey federations. In addition, five new women's federations were added to those already receiving the Company's support: athletics, karate, boxing, table tennis and ice sports.

These sporting disciplines were selected on account of the extraordinary level of success achieved, the high participation rate, the existence of schemes to promote sport at the grassroots level and other social projects. With this initiative, Iberdrola has placed itself at the forefront of women's sport and is helping promote a source of positive values for a healthier, more equal and fairer society.
