

How to survive the digital revolution?

Re-evaluate the strategy, products and services of the company to decide whether it is viable in the long term.

Recruit the technological talent you need to develop the company.

Make an analysis of the company's digital capacity.

Ensure that management is involved and it leads the change.

Make your corporate strategy customer-centric.

Source: CA Technologies.